The Fun House

Jill McDougall
Photographs by Lindsay Edwards

PM

The Fun House

Jill McDougall
Photographs by Lindsay Edwards

For Review Only

Contents

A Place to Play . . . . . 2
Slides and Tunnels . . . . . 4
Jump, Jump, Jump! . . . . . 8
Fun for Little Children . . . . . 10
The Climbing Wall . . . . . 12
The Party Room . . . . . 14
Glossary . . . . . 16

A Place to Play

The fun house is a place in the city where children can go to play.

Inside the fun house, girls and boys can slide, jump and climb.

Some families like to go to the fun house on rainy days.
Children can play and have fun without getting wet in the rain.

For Review Only

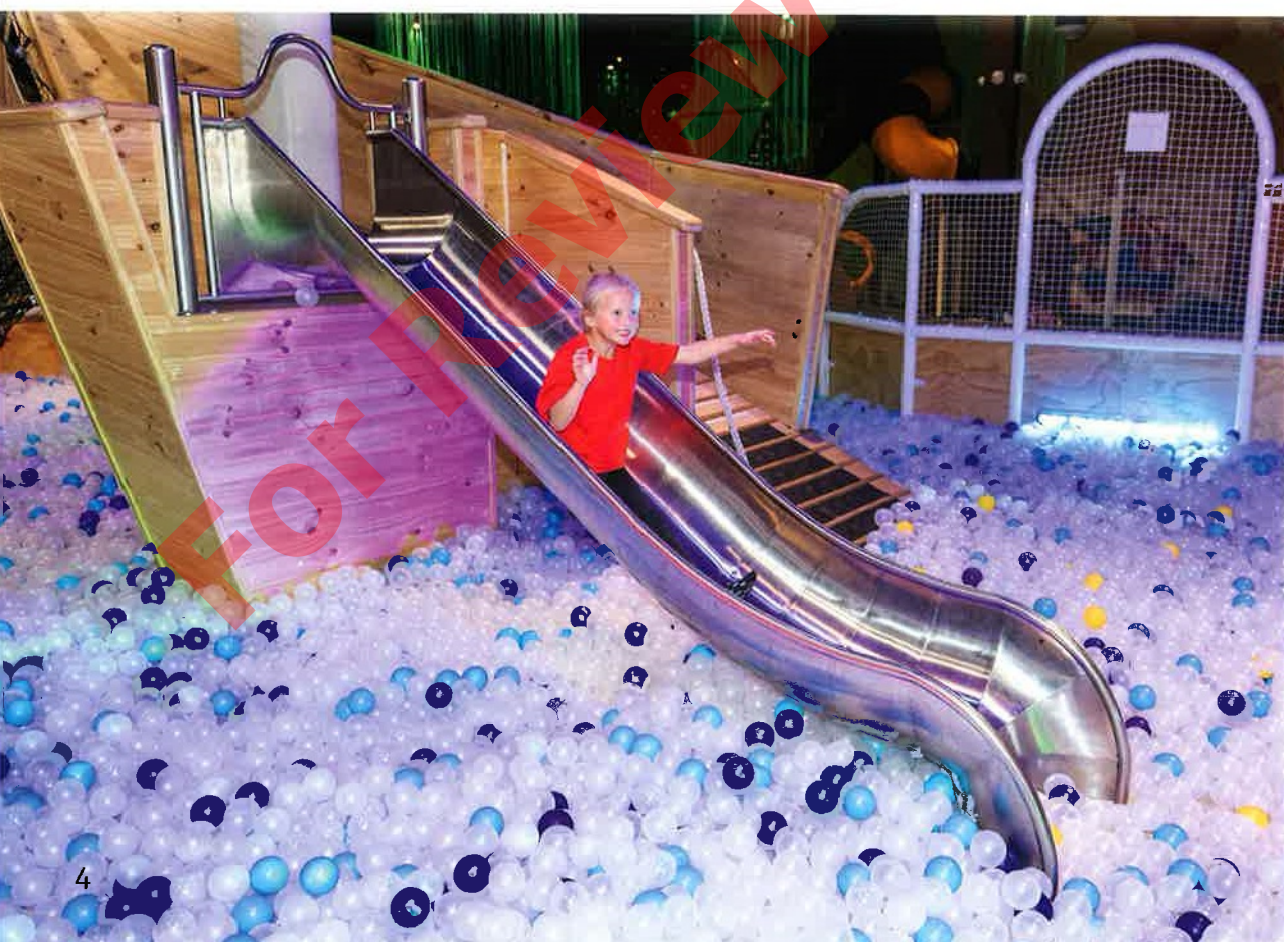

For Review Only

Slides and Tunnels

There are some slides
in the fun house.

The long slides are for children who like to go down them very fast.

For Review Only

The little slides are for small children.
They can go down slowly
so they don't feel scared.

All children must sit down to ride on the slides.

For Review Only

There are lots of tunnels
in the fun house.

Some tunnels are for children to slide down.
These tunnels have twists and turns to make the ride more fun.

For Review Only

One tunnel is on the ground.
Small children can crawl along this tunnel
and come out at the end.

For Review Only