At school, Blake and Tala were playing a new song at Ukulele Club.

The song was called "Jumping Frogs". It was very fast!

“Very good, boys and girls!” said Mr Hill.
“You are ready to put on a show.
Next week, you will play this song
for your friends here at school.”

The children looked pleased,
but Blake was not happy.

The next day, the children played "Jumping Frogs" again.

Blake did not play along. "This song is too fast!" he said to Tala.

"You can do it!" Tala said.
