Giraffe was the star of the basketball team.
She would always get the ball into the hoop.
Basketball made sense in her head.
But she was not the star of the maths class.

"Maths makes my head spin," she said.

Giraffe would get the ball in the hoop when she came from the left.
She would get it in when she came from the right.
She would get it in when she was close to the hoop or far away.
She almost never missed.
Giraffe was good at basketball.
But what she really wanted was to be good at maths, too.
