TALK ABOUT TEXTS

The Go-Green Garden

Written by Diana Noonan Illustrated by Claire de Zoete

The Go-Green Garden

For Review Only

Written by Diana Noonan

Illustrated by Claire de Zoete

macmillan education

Last month, our school joined the Go-Green community project.
Our class decided to plant a garden.
Then we could grow fresh, healthy vegetables for our small community.
Our teacher, Ms King, helped us plan it.

"If you have any ideas,
let's hear them!" said Ms King.

For Review Only

For Review Only

It took a long time to plan
our Go-Green garden.
Once we were finished, we invited people
from our community to school.
We wanted to share our plan
with everybody.
We wanted to see if people liked
any of our ideas.
And they did!

For Review Only

For Preview Only

We quickly got started on the Go-Green garden.
People from our community gave us tools and supplies.
We used them to make garden beds.

For Review Only

People gave us seeds and seedlings.
We had seedlings for tomatoes, cucumbers and broccoli.
We had seeds for carrots and corn, too!
We could not wait to start planting!

For Review Only