Where Did the Dinosaurs Go?

Written by Sally Odgers
Illustrated by Tom Bonson

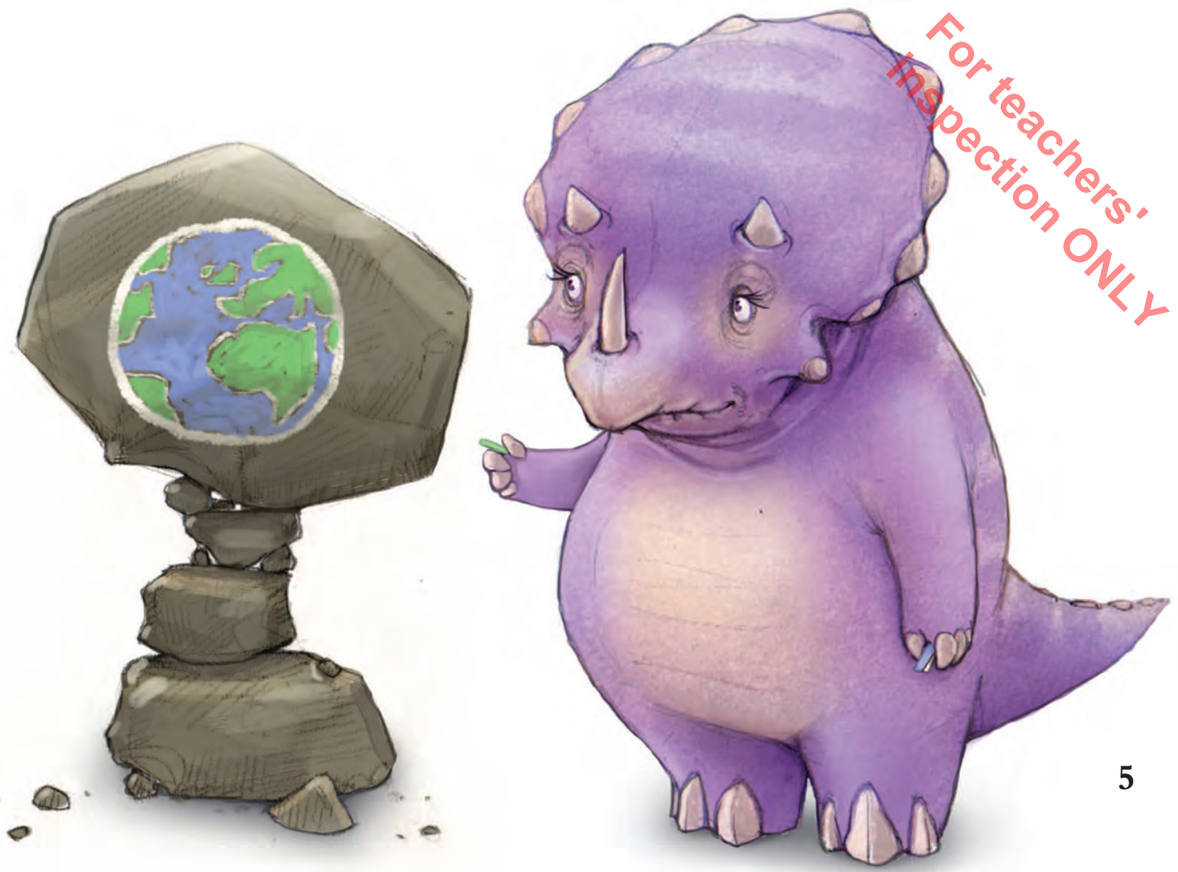

Links and Budge were learning about planets from their teacher. “Are there dinosaurs like us on other planets?” asked Budge.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Madam Thor shook her huge, horned head. "No, Budge. Once upon a time, dinosaurs lived on planet Earth," she said. "But they vanished long ago."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

"Maybe the humans fought them," said Links.

"There were no humans then," said Madam Thor. "Dinosaurs were the most powerful beings on Earth."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Links bit some leaves off a tree and munched them. He wasn't interested in other planets.

Budge looked worried. "If Earth dinosaurs were powerful, what made them disappear?" she asked.