HOW TO SURVIVE IN THE JUNGLE

BY THE PERSON WHO KNOWS

WRITTEN BY BILL CONDON
ILLUSTRATED BY MIKE GORDON

Contents

Chapter One
Disaster: I Love It! 3

Chapter Two
Beware What You Wear! 9

Chapter Three
Always Smile at a Crocodile! 13

Chapter Four
Fast Food, Jungle Style! 17

Chapter Five
When in the Jungle, Go Ape! . . . 21

Chapter Six
Being Brave. 25

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Chapter One

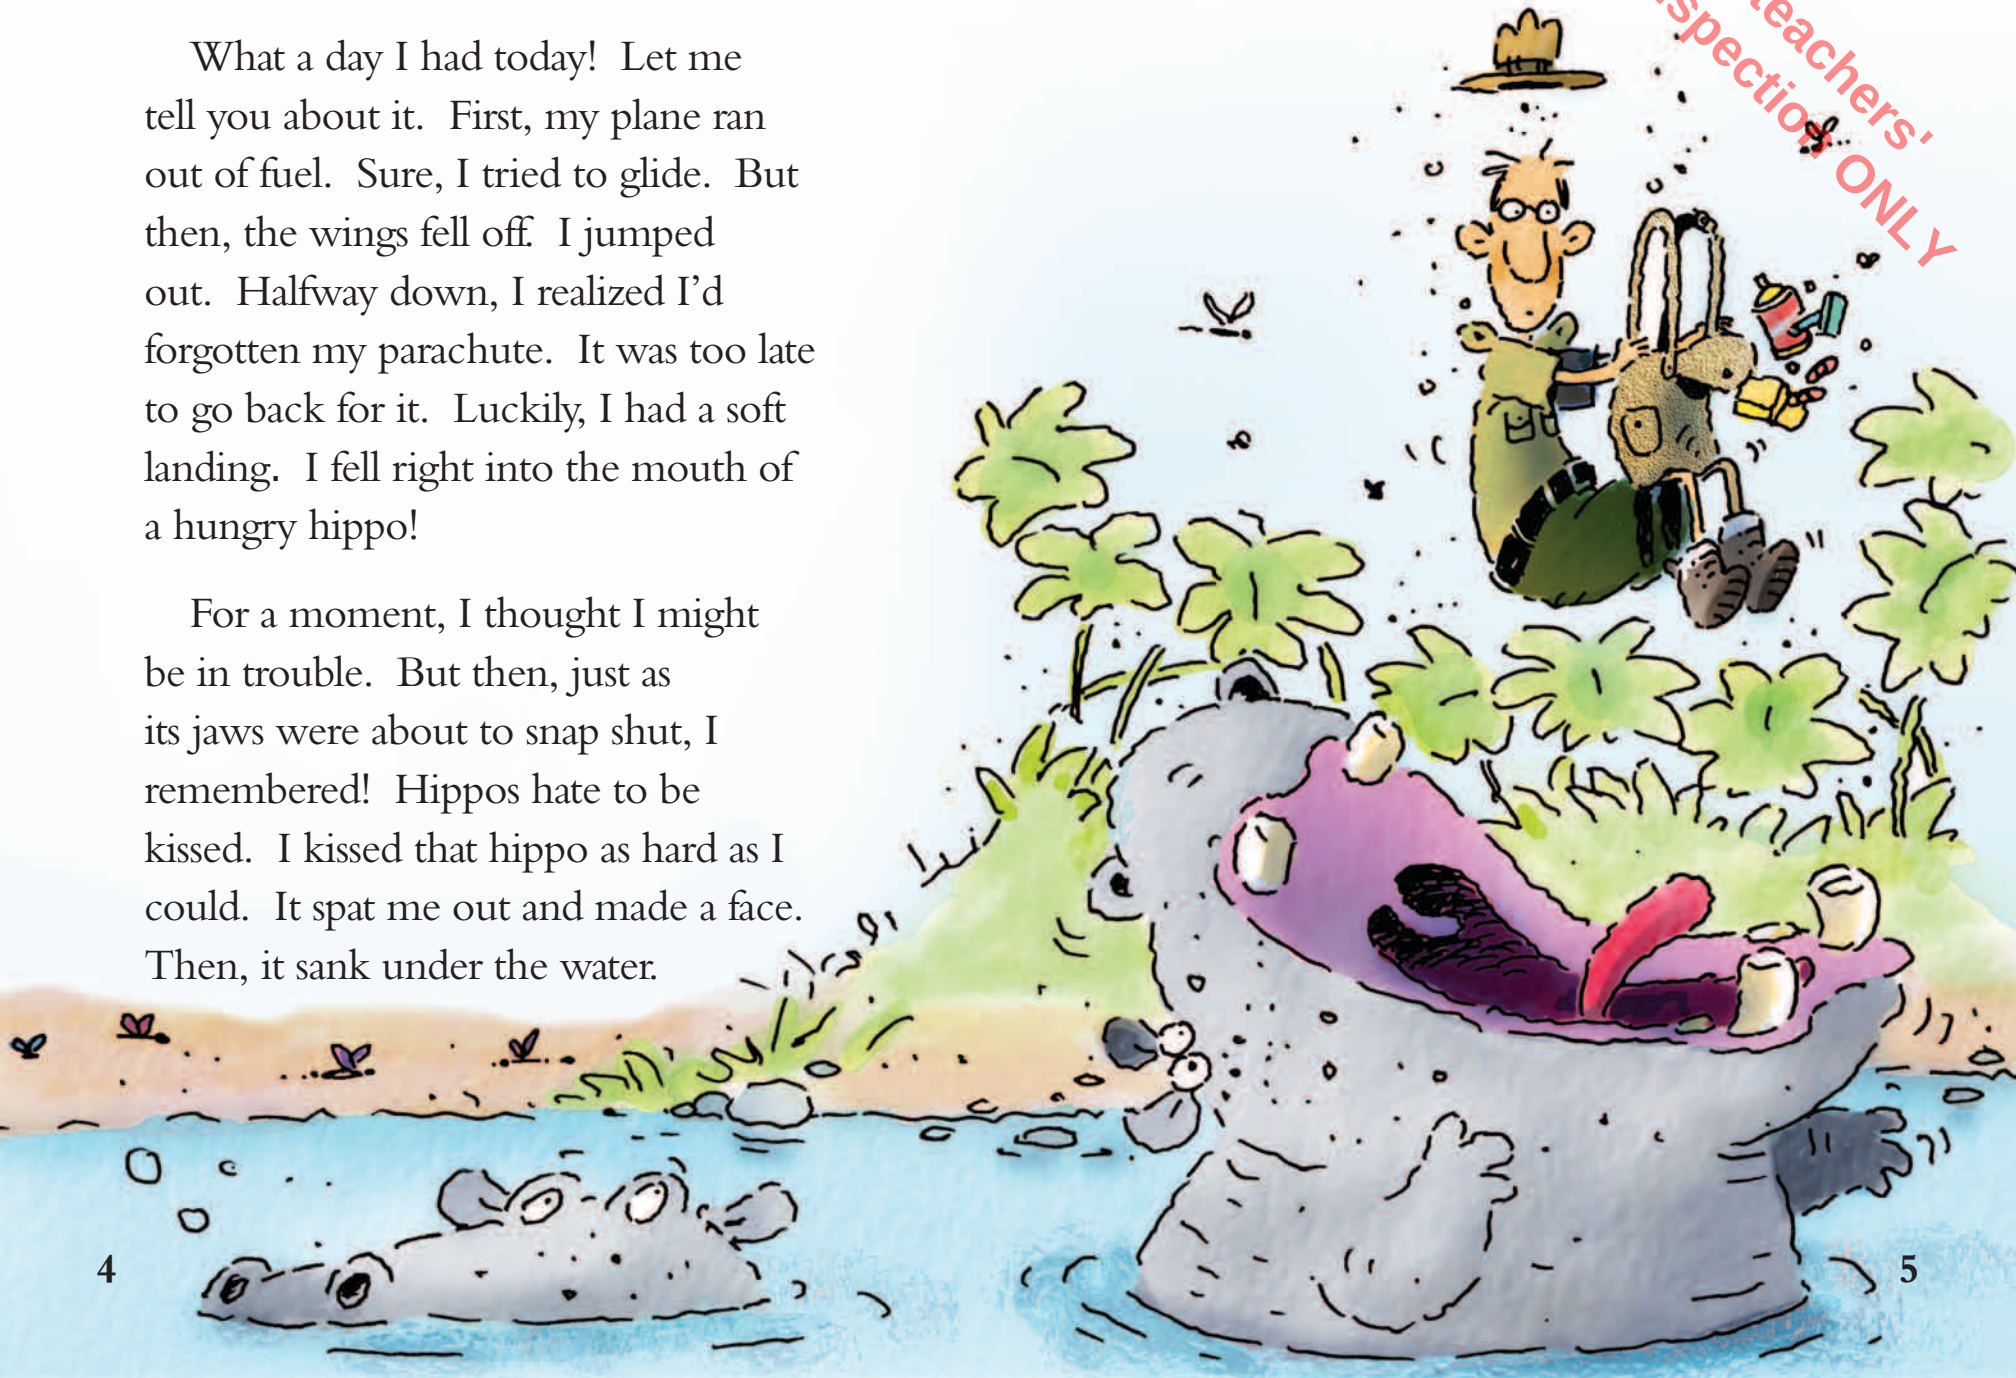

DISASTER: I LOVE IT!

Who am I? I'm Bradley D. Mented, that's who. I'm a wild and crazy star, and you're watching my TV show, The Wild and Crazy Survivor Show!

For teachers' inspection ONLY

What a day I had today! Let me tell you about it. First, my plane ran out of fuel. Sure, I tried to glide. But then, the wings fell off. I jumped out. Halfway down, I realized I'd forgotten my parachute. It was too late to go back for it. Luckily, I had a soft landing. I fell right into the mouth of a hungry hippo!

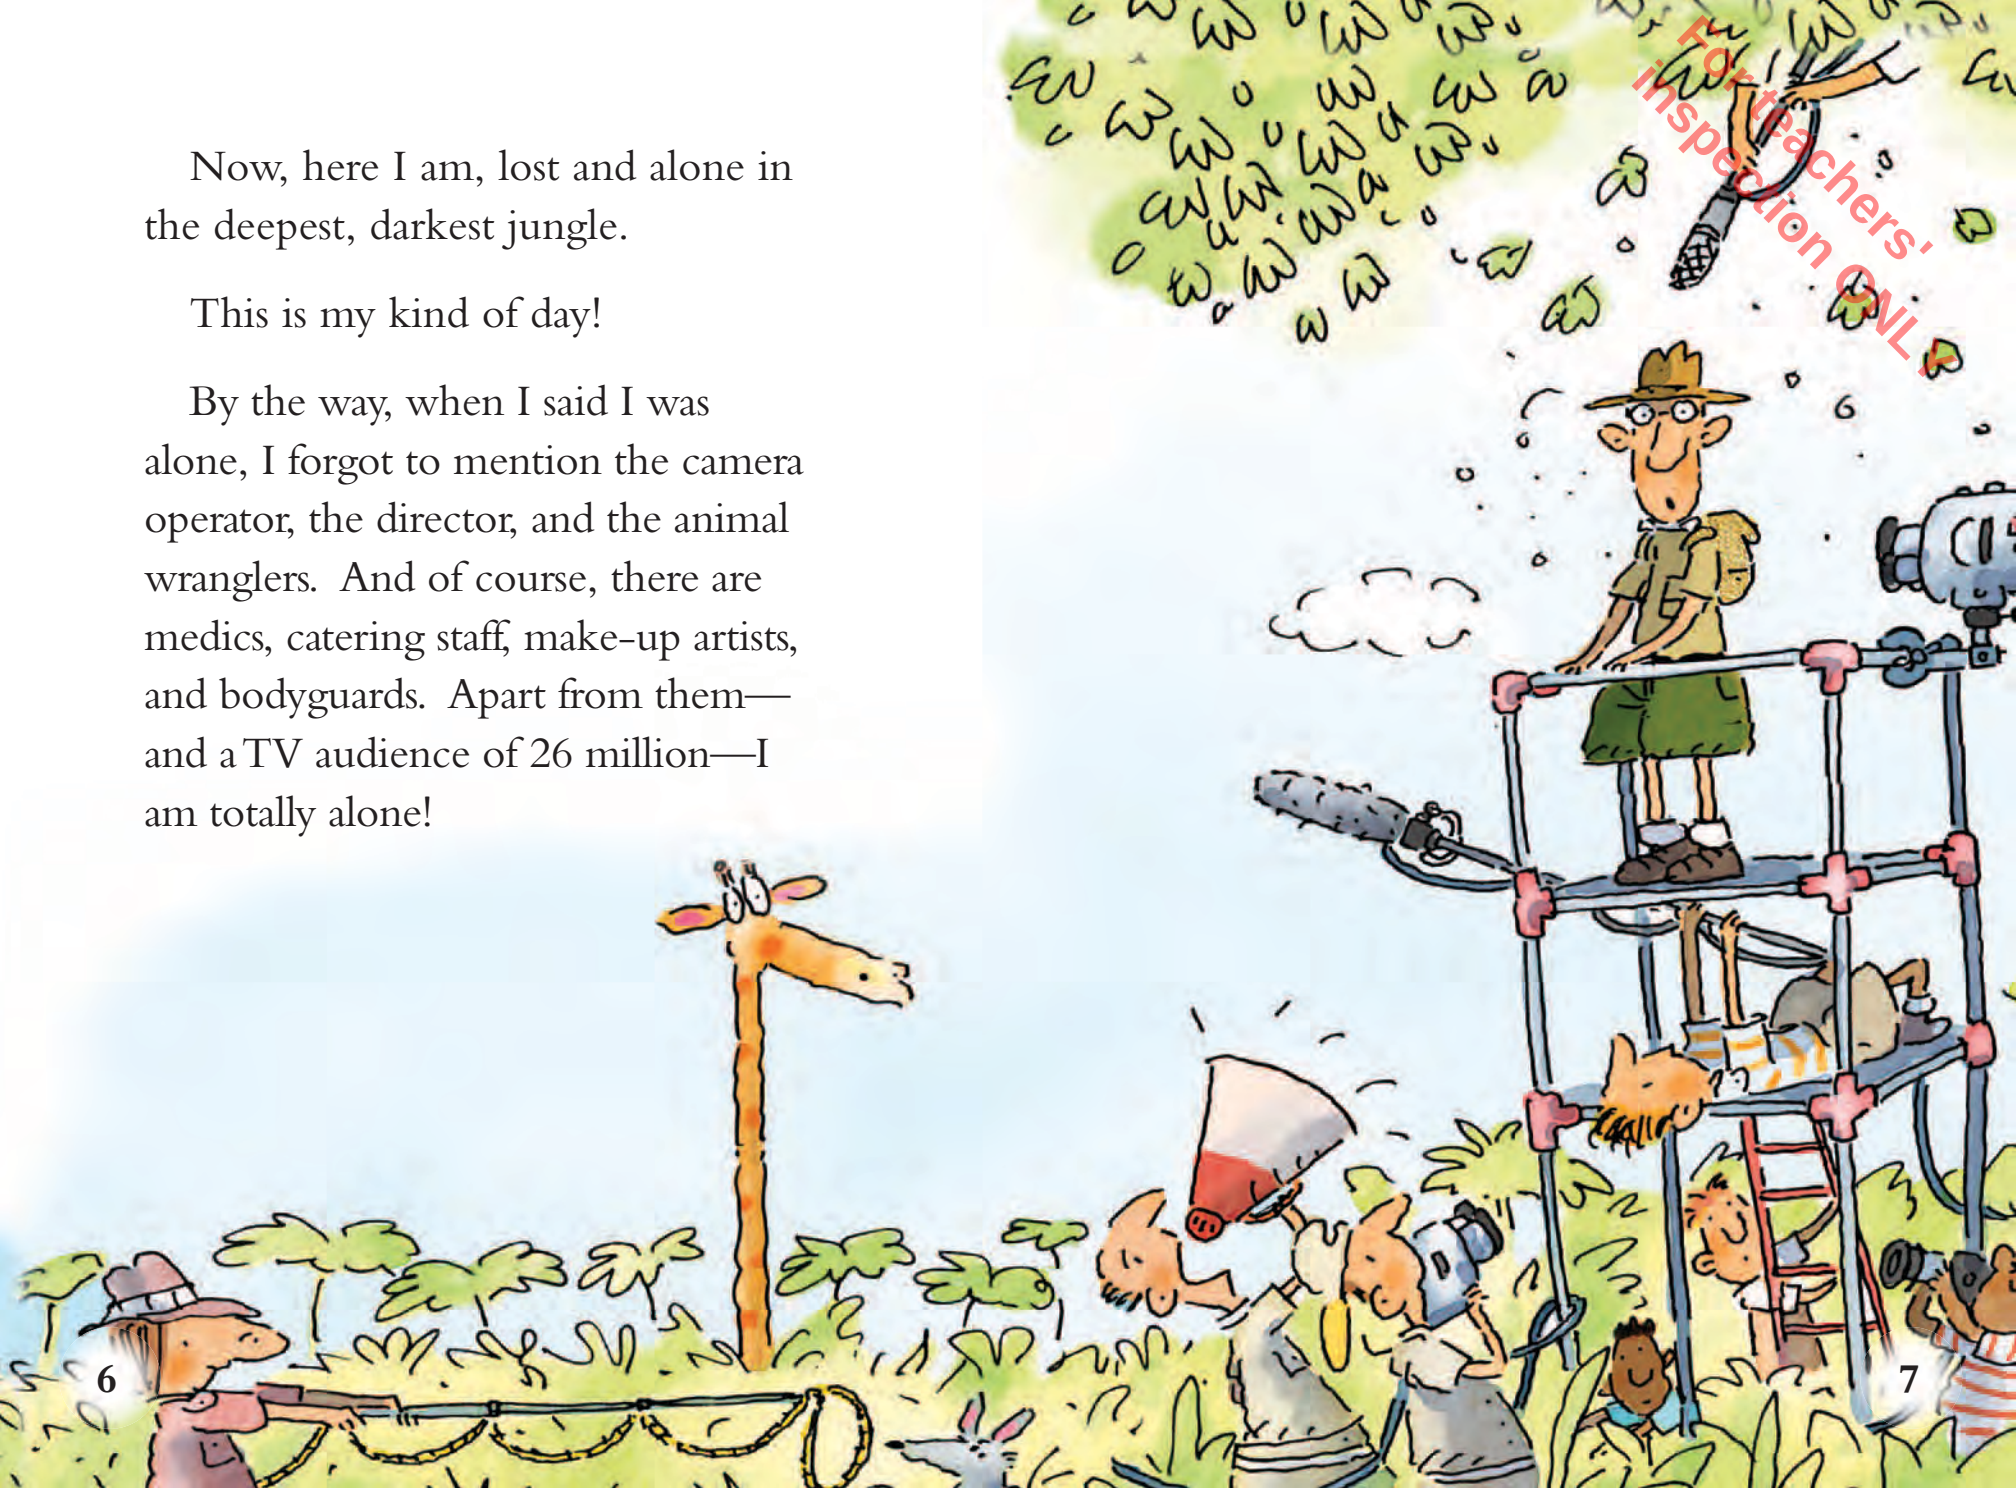

For a moment, I thought I might be in trouble. But then, just as its jaws were about to snap shut, I remembered! Hippos hate to be kissed. I kissed that hippo as hard as I could. It spat me out and made a face. Then, it sank under the water.

Now, here I am, lost and alone in the deepest, darkest jungle.

This is my kind of day!

By the way, when I said I was alone, I forgot to mention the camera operator, the director, and the animal wranglers. And of course, there are medics, catering staff, make-up artists, and bodyguards. Apart from them—and a TV audience of 26 million—I am totally alone!

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' Inspection ONLY

Chapter Two

BEWARE WHAT YOU WEAR!

In the next thrilling episode, I will explain how you, too, can survive in the deepest, darkest jungle. If I can do it, so can you!

