Digger's Best Bone

Written by Melaina Faranda
Illustrated by Stevie Mahardhika

“Get that dog out of my garden!”
Ms Bell said.
“He just dug up my best flowerbed!”

Digger looked up from the hole
he had made and wagged his tail.
A dead daisy drooped from one floppy ear.

For Review Only

For Review Only

"Come on, Digger," Jed said.
"We have made Ms Bell angry again!"

Jed had wanted Digger from the first day
he saw him at the shelter.
He knew that puppy would turn out to be the best dog ever!

Digger was the best dog ever,
but there was one little problem.
What Digger liked to do most was dig.
That made some people very angry!

For Review Only

For Review Only

Digger dug holes beneath
the neighbours' houses,
holes in the school grounds,
and holes next to the footpaths.
He dug holes in the golf course,
holes in the football field,
and now holes in Ms Bell's flowerbed!

For Review Only

For Review Only