Use these tips to help children adjust to a new teacher:

- Listen to children's worries or concerns. Don't dismiss their feelings.
- Help children make a list of good changes that go along with having a new teacher, such as new activities and responsibilities they have if they are moving to an older class.
- Encourage children to talk to the new teacher to learn about him or her.
- Invite children to create a note about themselves for their new teacher. You can write the words for the note, and children can draw pictures.

How to Read This Book with Children

1. Read aloud the title. Tell about a time when you had a new teacher.
2. Read aloud the book with children.
3. Talk about Kameko's feelings as you read.
4. Ask children to describe the strategies Kameko uses in the story to communicate.
5. After reading, use the Real-World Wrap-Up prompts to discuss the photograph.
6. Guide children to connect the story to their own experiences.

Real-World Wrap-Up

My Thoughts:
What do you think this child is telling his teacher? How can you tell?

My Feelings:
How do you feel when you meet a new teacher for the first time?
What questions could you ask to get to know a new teacher?
