Use these tips to guide children to resolve conflicts:

- Remind children to listen to one another's feelings when they have a disagreement.
- Role-play ways children can respond when a disagreement arises. Have children identify the potential conflicts and brainstorm ideas to solve the problems.
- Invite children to describe a time they had a problem and what they did to resolve it.

How to Read This Book with Children

1. Read aloud the title. Have children discuss what it means to solve a problem.
2. Read aloud the book with children.
3. Discuss a time when you had a problem, and tell how you solved it.
4. Ask children to describe how Ella has a problem in the beginning of the story and uses that experience to help others.
5. After reading, use the Real-World Wrap-Up prompts to discuss the photograph.
6. Guide children to connect the story to their own experiences.

VROOM,
VROOM,
VROOM!

"I am going to win!" said Kameko.

My Thoughts:

If these children both wanted to use the same marker, how could they solve that problem?

My Feelings:

How do you feel when you have a problem with a friend or someone in your family? What are some things you can say or do when you want to solve a problem?
