

THE FIVE SENSES

Tasting

Table of Contents

Backyard Barbecue	4
What Is Tasting?	8
What Tasting Teaches	16
Glossary	22
To Learn More	23
Index	24

Backyard Barbecue

Your stomach growls as you climb out of the pool. It is time for some food!

The table is piled with dozens of dishes. Your mouth starts to water. Everyone loads up plates and digs in.

The burgers are savory. They go well with the sour slaw and sweet watermelon.

You top off the meal with a big ice cream sundae. The flavors bring back your best memories of summer.

What Is Tasting?

Our tongues work with our noses to help us taste food. The tongue senses five basic tastes.

They are sweet, sour, salty, bitter, and savory. These tastes combine with the scents in food to make more complex flavors.

