Time to Play!

I love playing with toys.

Board games are fun, too.

What toys and games did kids have in the past?

Long ago, people
made their own toys.

They made balls out
of cloth or animal skin.

Children had toys
made from wood
and stone.

Soon, toys and games had different parts.

People made yo-yos and kites with string.

They also made games that had lots of pieces.

Video Games Over Time

Some of the first video games were in arcades. People went to these places to play together.

Later, more kids played video games at home. They used televisions or computers to play.

Now, people can play games on cell phones almost anywhere. Some people wear special headsets that make games seem more real.
