

Benchmark EDUCATION

retold by Carrie Smith
illustrated by Gerald Kelley

Ask Questions

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Long ago, a boy took care of some sheep. The sheep lived in the hills.

The hills were by a big forest.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Sometimes the boy got lonely.
One morning, he made a plan.
He would get people from the town to come and see him.

He cried, "Wolf! Wolf! Wolf!"

For teachers' inspection ONLY

The people in the town thought the boy needed help.
The people came running.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

The people didn't see a wolf when they got to the boy. "I was just having fun," said the boy. He was very happy with himself.

What happened in this fable?

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Identify Cause and Effect

The people stopped running to save the boy. Why?