

Dolls Not Dinosaurs

Level
2

Andre Louw

I really don't like cars or dinosaurs. Do you know what's interesting?

Jason is playing with his toys.
But, Jason is not like other boys.

COUNT

How many toys can you see in this room?

To him, a car or a robot
is not a fun thing.

SPEAK

What toys do you think Jason may want to play with?

Dinosaurs aren't cool, and balls are boring!
What else can he play with?

He goes into his cousin's room.
He is as quiet as a mouse.
She has the coolest toys in the house!

THINK

Why does Jason go into his cousin's room quietly?

She has lots and lots of dolls.
And they all have different clothes!

Little Buyers, Big Business!

Selling toys isn't child's play. For some, it brings great success. Worldwide, people spend over $5 billion a year on LEGO.

Over 350 million Rubik's Cubes are sold.
And, in 2018, Hot Wheels sold their 4 billionth toy car!

1. Fill in the blanks first. Then, complete the answers in the crossword.

skirt	handbag	hide	hear	toy
president	designer	choose	trophy	stage

Across	Down
1. The dancers walk out onto the _____, and everyone is cheering.	a. That Barbie doll is her favorite _____.
2. Mom carries her phone, keys, and some money in her _____.	b. Helen is a famous fashion _____. Women love her clothes.
3. The winner is holding the _____ and hugging his parents.	c. Can you speak up? I can't _____ you.
4. Who is the first _____ of our country?	d. For your birthday gift, you can _____ any toy you like!
5. Jake tried to _____ the test paper because he got a bad grade.	e. We are going hiking, so you shouldn't wear a _____.

Looking-Good Lab Coat

You will need:

different colored markers

scissors

a large, plain white T-shirt

a pencil

science pictures

a piece of paper

1. Take your white T-shirt and fold it in half, sleeve over sleeve.
2. Now use your scissors to cut ONLY THE FRONT of the T-shirt along the middle.

