I Can Feel It

John D. Smith

My friends call me Wayne.
I like to talk about the weather. How's the weather where you are?

I see trees moving.
It's getting windy.
My hat is flying away.

THINK

Which way is the wind blowing? How do you know?

I see rain clouds.
It's getting cold.
I'm zipping up my coat.

LOOK

What color are Wayne's hat, jacket, and pants?

A colorful illustration of a house at night. A large yellow lightning bolt strikes the dark blue sky with clouds. The house has a red roof, a round window with a cross pattern, and a square window with multiple panes, both glowing with yellow light. A red door is on the right. A blue and red parrot is perched on the roof. White streaks representing rain or wind fall across the scene. The yard has green grass, a wooden fence, and some bushes. Yellow leaves are scattered on the ground.

BOOM

I see lightning.
I hear thunder.
I'm getting scared.

POINT

Point to the lightning
and the lights.

A Rainy Painting

Gustave Caillebotte is famous for his painting, Paris Street, Rainy Day. The street is shiny with rain. The painting shows the clothes and buildings of 19th-century Paris.

1. What weather do the kids like and not like? Listen, read, and complete the chart by drawing a smiley face or a sad face.

Mia

I like warm weather. I love the beach and sunbathing. Cloudy days, windy days, and rainy days always make me sad.

Jessie

I love the gentle wind blowing on my face. It's so fresh. I also like sunny days. But I don't like rainy days or cloudy days.

Emily

I like all kinds of weather. No matter what weather it is, it always feels perfect for me.

	sunny days	windy days	rainy days	cloudy days
