Fred Helps Too

By Annette Smith

Illustrated by Richard Hoit

Fred Helps Too

For Review Only

By Annette Smith
Illustrated by Richard Hoit

Rosie put on her boots.

"It has stopped raining, Fred," she said.

"We can play outside now."

For Review Only

Fred ran down the steps
and onto the wet grass.

He ran around
and around the garden.

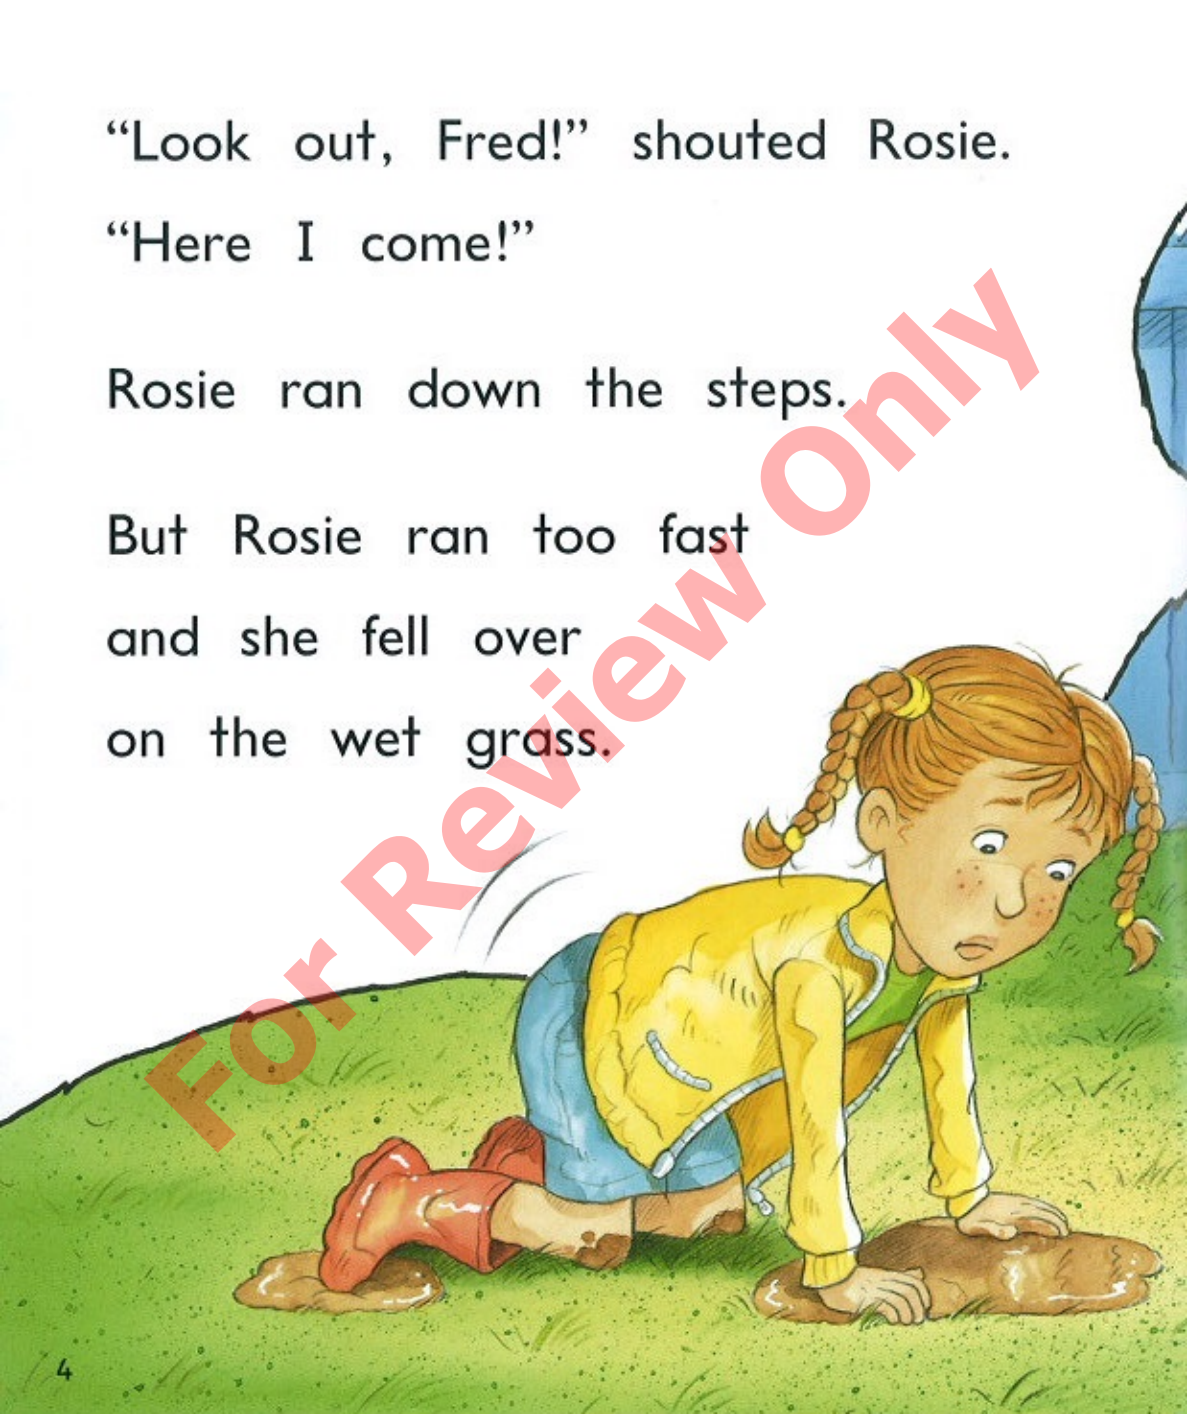

For Review Only

"Look out, Fred!" shouted Rosie.
"Here I come!"

Rosie ran down the steps.

But Rosie ran too fast
and she fell over
on the wet grass.

For Review Only

For Preview Only

Fred ran back to Rosie.

For Review Only

Rosie looked at her hands.

"My hands are muddy,"
she said.
"And look at my knees!
They are muddy too.
I will have to get a towel."

For Review Only