Plop and the Frog Tower

By Annette Smith

Illustrated by Jolanda Oosthuizen and John Skibinksi

Flying Colours

Plop and the Frog Tower

For Review Only

By Annette Smith

Illustrated by Jolanda Oosthuizen and John Skibinksi

Plop jumped onto a big leaf
in the pool.
He shouted to the little frogs,
"I'm the boss of this pool!
Go away!"

For Review Only

The little frogs looked at Plop.

He was a big frog.

The little frogs jumped into the grass to hide.

For Review Only

Tortoise was in the grass too.

One little frog said to Tortoise,
"We are hot.
Plop will not let us swim
in his pool."

For Review Only

"Stay here with me," said Tortoise.

The little frogs stayed with Tortoise. But they wanted to swim in the pool.

For Review Only

"Little Frogs!" said Tortoise.

"Look!

Big Bird is coming."

Big Bird came down to the pool.

Plop did not see him.

Big Bird walked up to Plop.

For Review Only

For Review Only