

The House on the Hill

Retold by Beverley Randell Illustrated by Ben Spiby

For teachers' inspection ONLY

One day, the white sheep said,
"My house is very old.
It is no good.
I will get some wood
and make a new house
up on the hill.
But who will help me?"

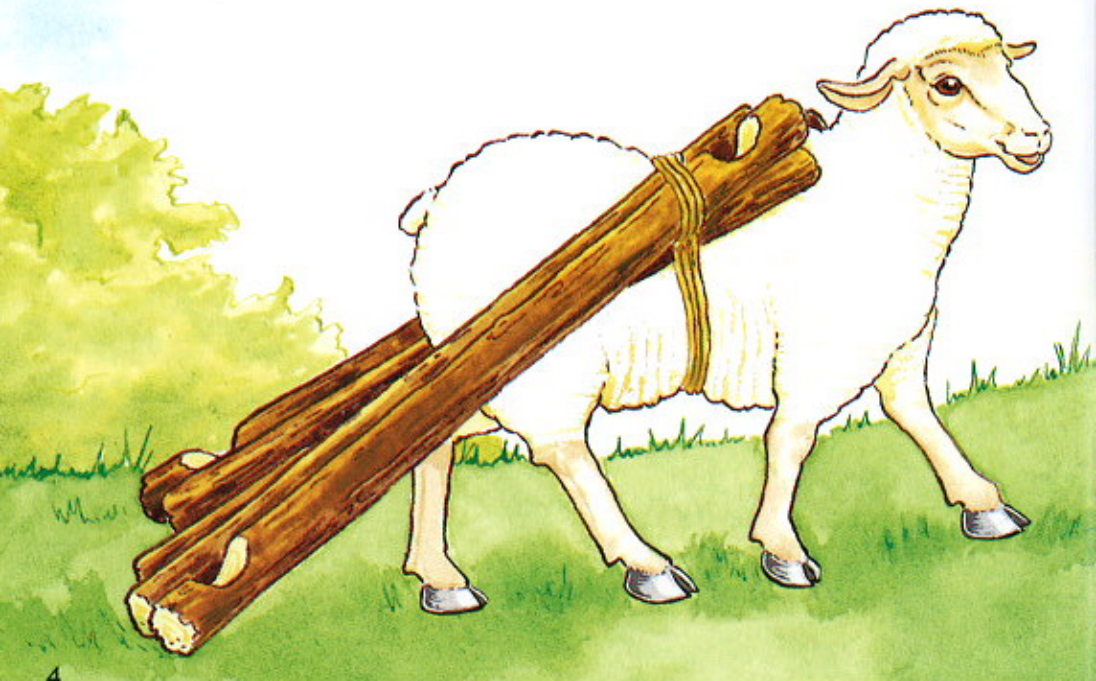

For teacher inspection ONLY

"I can help,"
said the grey rabbit.

"No you can't,"
said the white sheep.
"You are too little."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

"I'm not too little,"
said the grey rabbit.
"I can dig the holes
for the house."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

"I can help,"
said the brown duck.

"No you can't,"
said the white sheep.
"You are too little."

For teachers' inspection ONLY