There were two little blue cars,

a big green car

and a red racing car.

The red racing car
looked at the little blue cars
and the big green car.
"I will win the race," he said.
"I can go very fast."

Lollipop, the old, old car,
came slowly up to the line.

"You are too old
to go in a race like this,"
said the red racing car.
"You can't go fast like me."
