The Fawn in the Forest

PM+

Story by Beverley Randell

Illustrations by Julian Bruère

A baby fawn lay hiding
in the green forest.

He lay in the leaves and the long grass
under the trees.
He lay in a secret place.

His mother had hidden him there.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

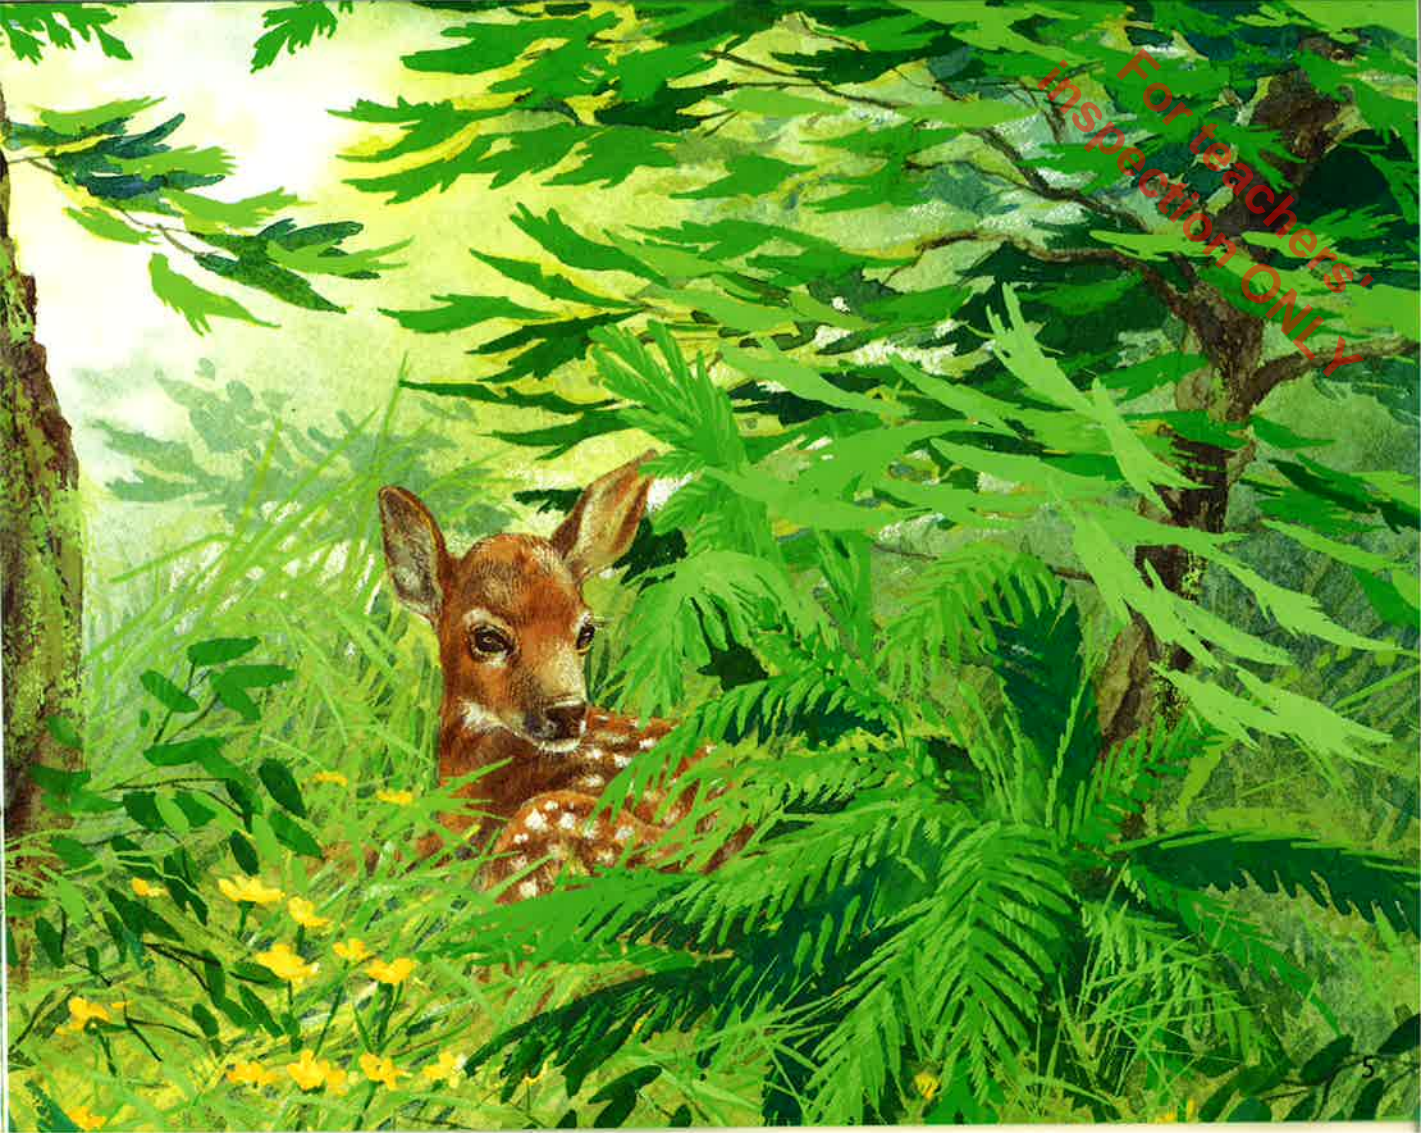

For teachers' inspection ONLY

The little fawn was all by himself.
He stayed very still.

The white spots on his back looked like spots of sunlight
on the leaves.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

A fox came along.

The baby fawn stayed very still.

He did not move his head.

He did not move his tail.

For teachers' inspection ONLY