Saving Hoppo

PM+

Story by Dawn McMillan
Illustrations by Claire Bridge

Hoppo was Ben's little brown rabbit.

She lived outside in a cage,
on the grass.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

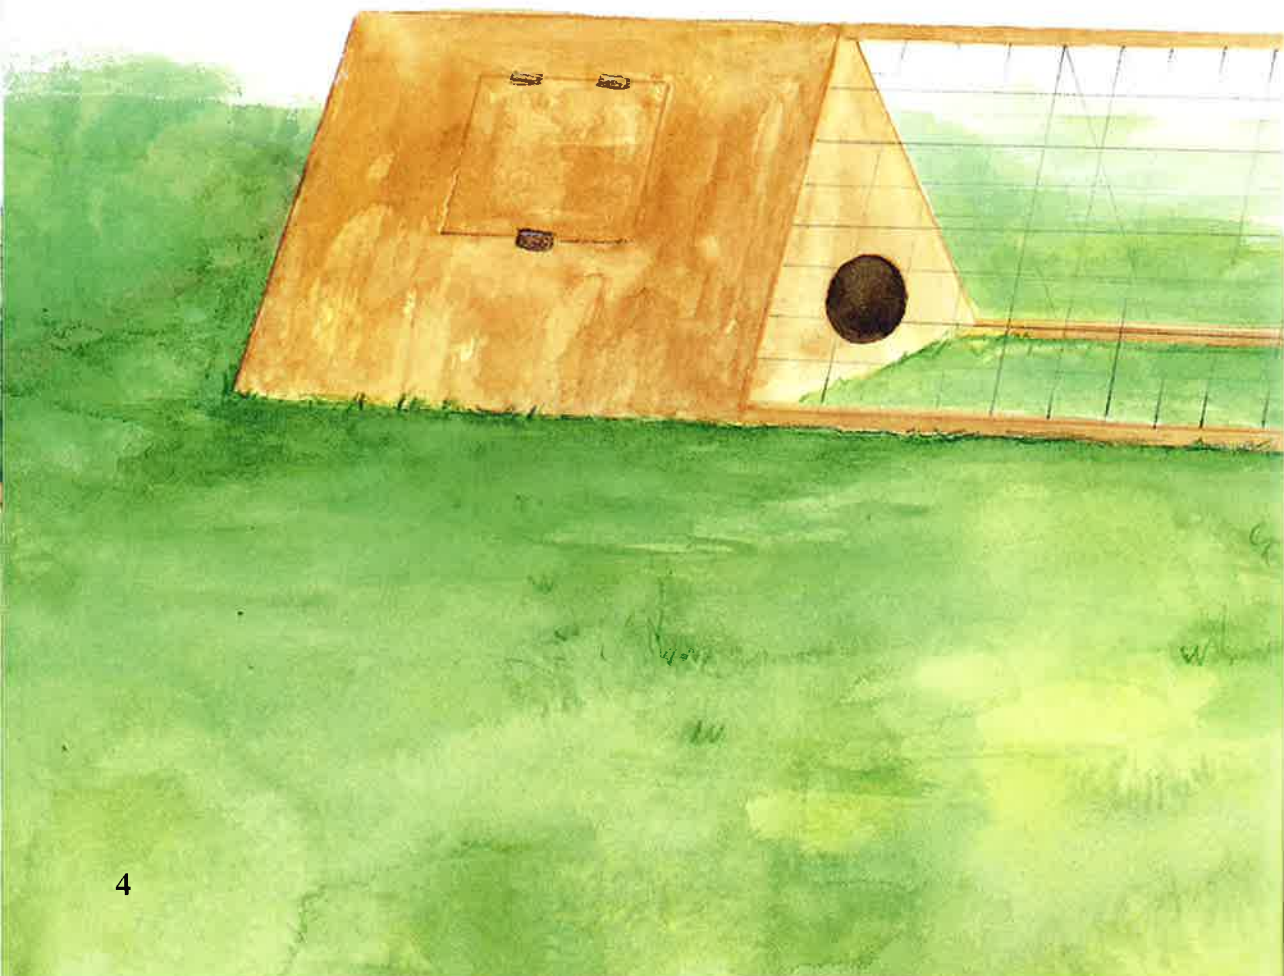

Every morning,
Ben put new straw in Hoppo's house.
He pulled some carrots out of the garden
for Hoppo's breakfast.

Ben liked to watch Hoppo
nibble the carrots.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

After school,
Ben played with Hoppo.
He talked to her and patted her.
Then he put her back into the cage
for the night.

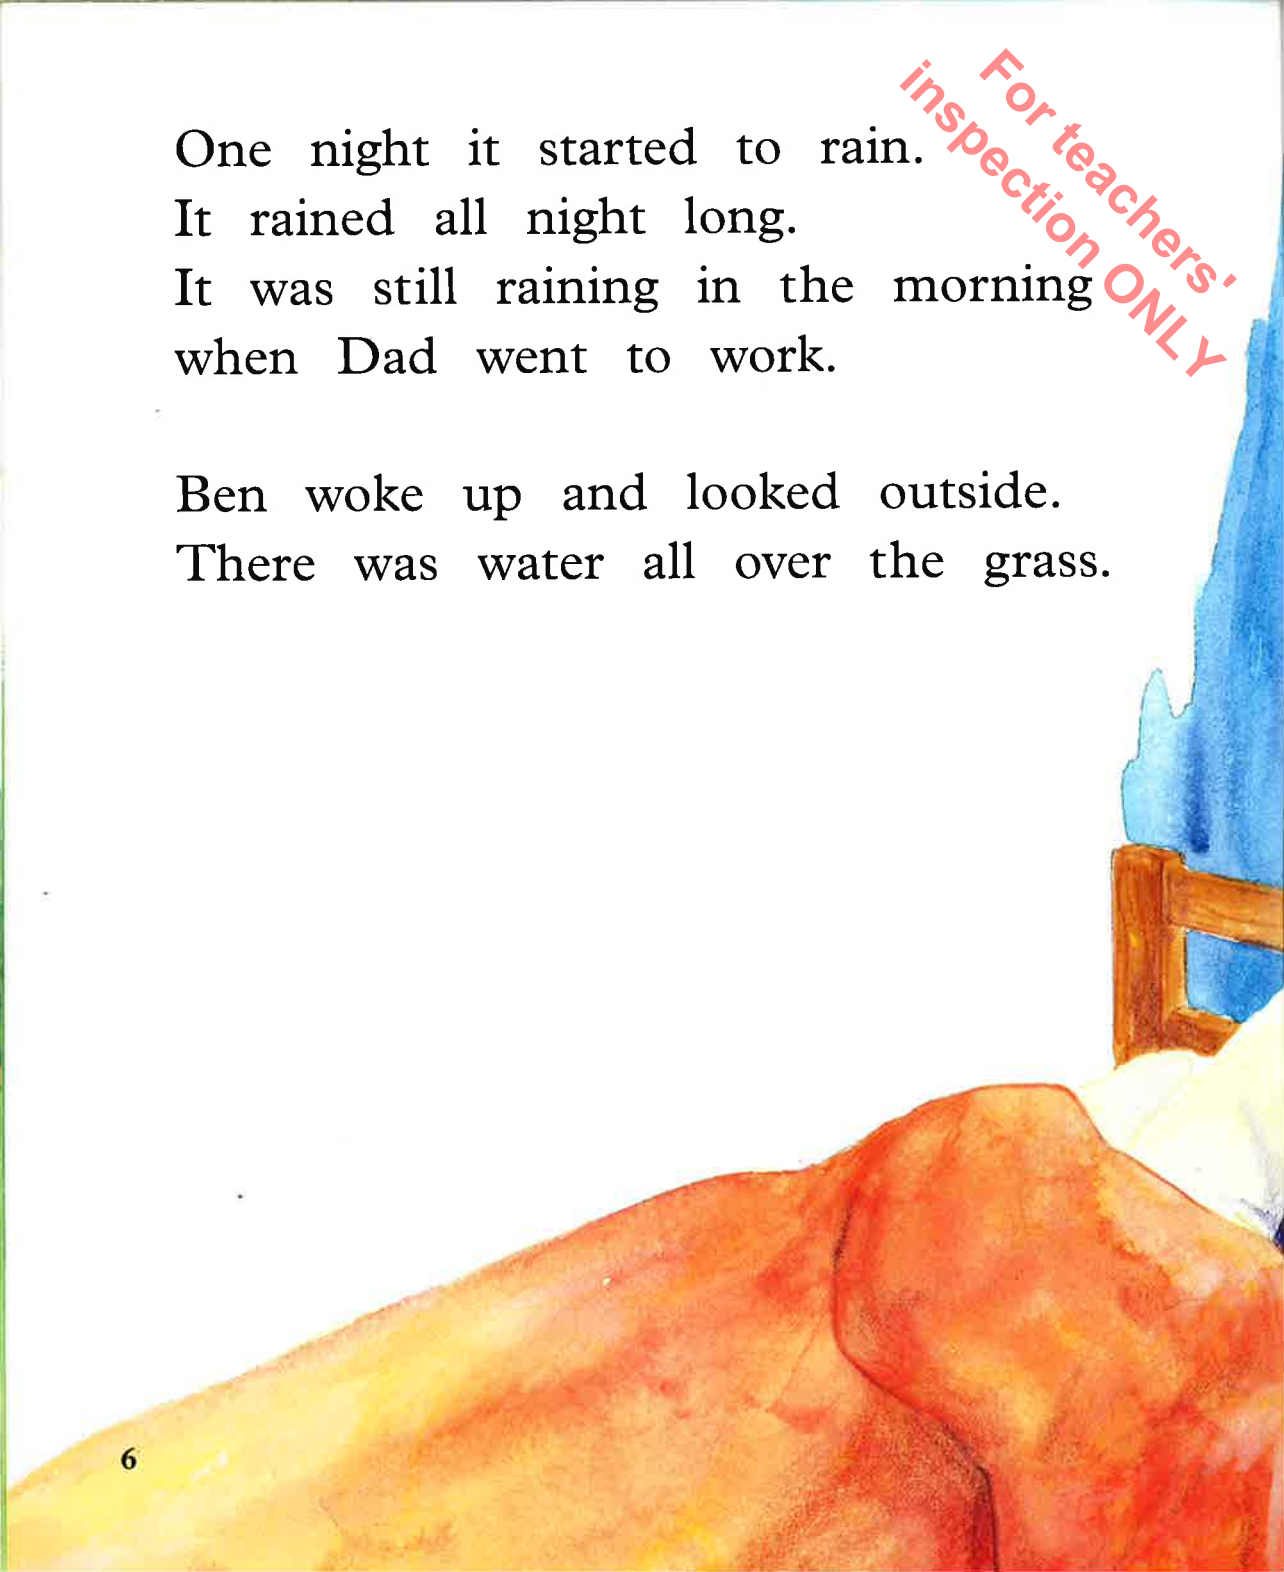

For teachers' inspection ONLY

One night it started to rain.
It rained all night long.
It was still raining in the morning
when Dad went to work.

Ben woke up and looked outside.
There was water all over the grass.

For teachers' inspection ONLY