Jordan at the Big Game

PM+

Story by Jenny Giles

Illustrations by Al Fiorentino

Jordan walked into the football ground with his father.

"Look at that notice, Dad," he said. "I'm going to put my ticket into the box. I could be one of the lucky winners."

For Review Only

"There will be a lot of names in that box," smiled his dad.

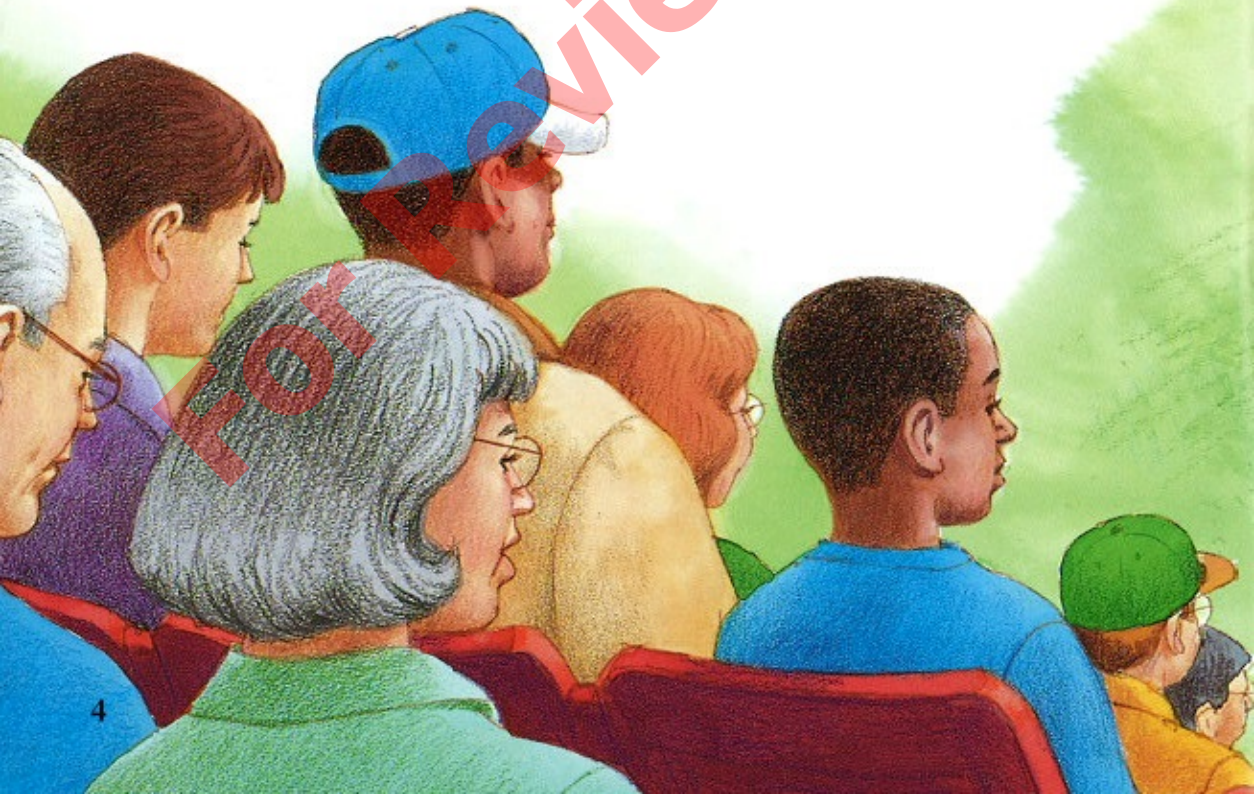

"But I could still win," said Jordan.

For Preview Only

Jordan and his dad went to sit down. They watched as a man came out onto the field with the box.

He said to everyone,
"Now for the names of the winners!"
Then he pulled out a ticket.
"The first name is... Liam Rivers!"

For Review Only

For Review Only

"That's Liam from my school!"
said Jordan.
"He's my friend!"

Then the man said,
"And the second name is... Nicky Hill!"

Jordan watched the two children running down the steps and onto the field.
"I didn't get picked, Dad," he said.

"Maybe you will next time,"
said his father.

For Review Only