PM+

The Work Helicopter

Story by Annette Smith

Illustrations by Marina McAllan

For Review Only

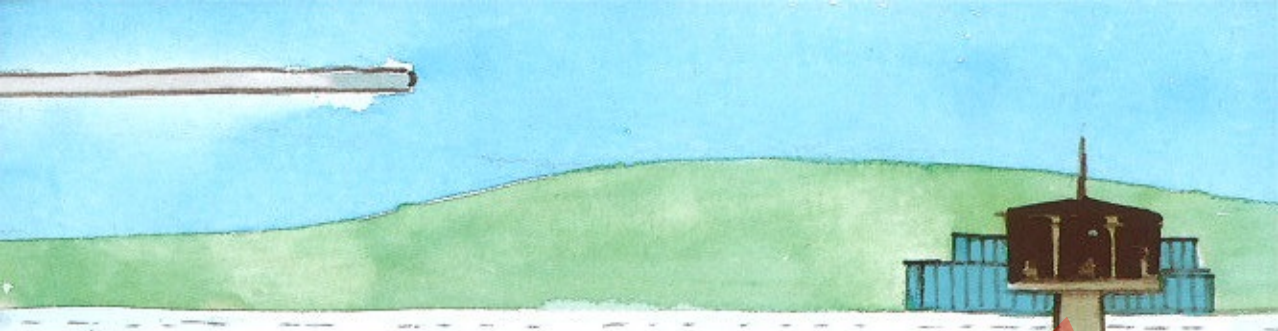

Jed was a pilot at an airport.
He flew the work planes that were kept in the sheds by the side of the runway.

For Review Only

For Review Only

One morning, Jed got a call from the airport tower.

"We need your help," said the man in the tower. "Some men are building a house. They have to put the roof on today. The house is on top of a hill. But the truck can't get up there with the wood. The road is too muddy."

"This is a job for my helicopter," said Jed. "We can help the builders."

For Review Only

For Review Only