

PM+

The Youngest Giraffe

Story by Elizabeth Russell-Arnot

Illustrations by Julian Bruère

The youngest giraffe had been running and playing all morning.

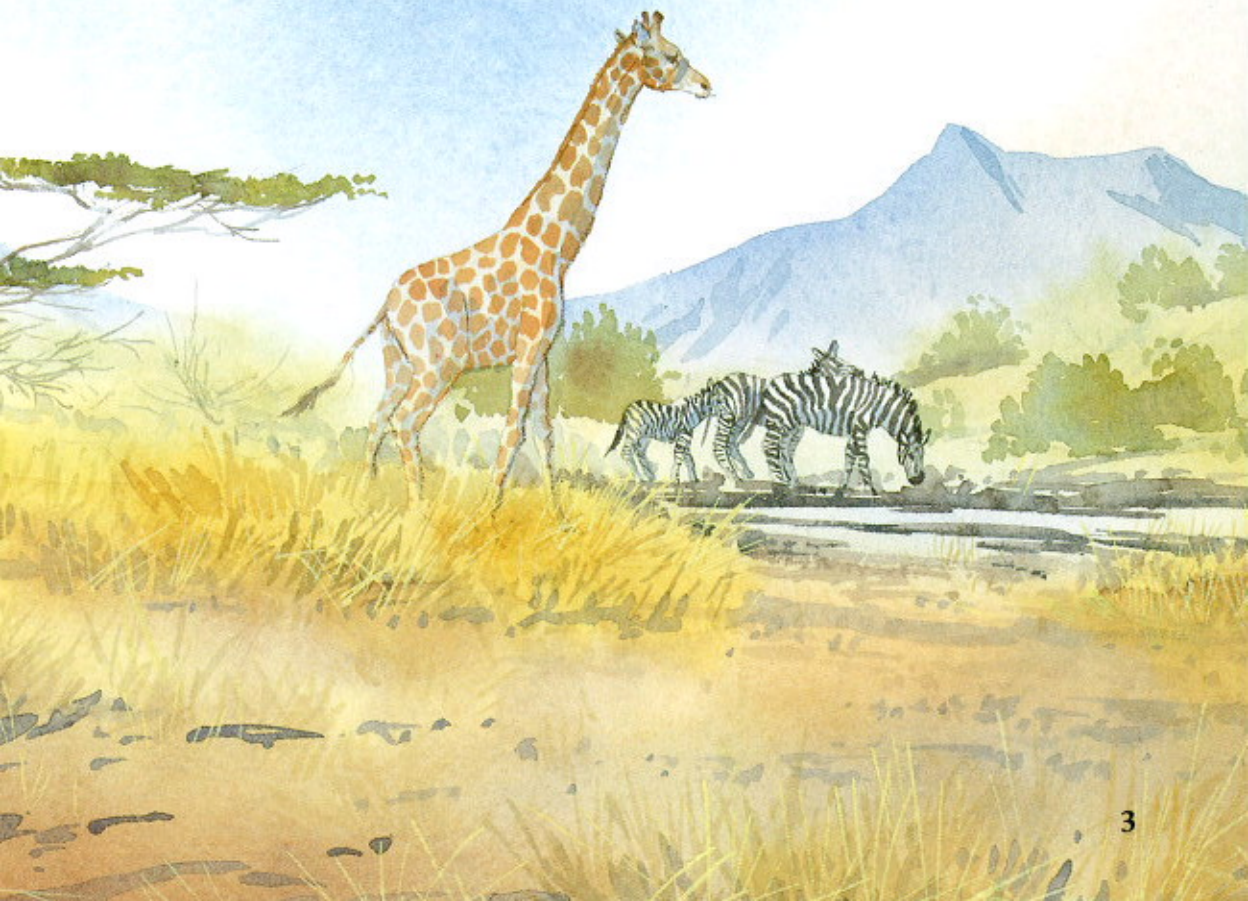

For teachers' inspection ONLY

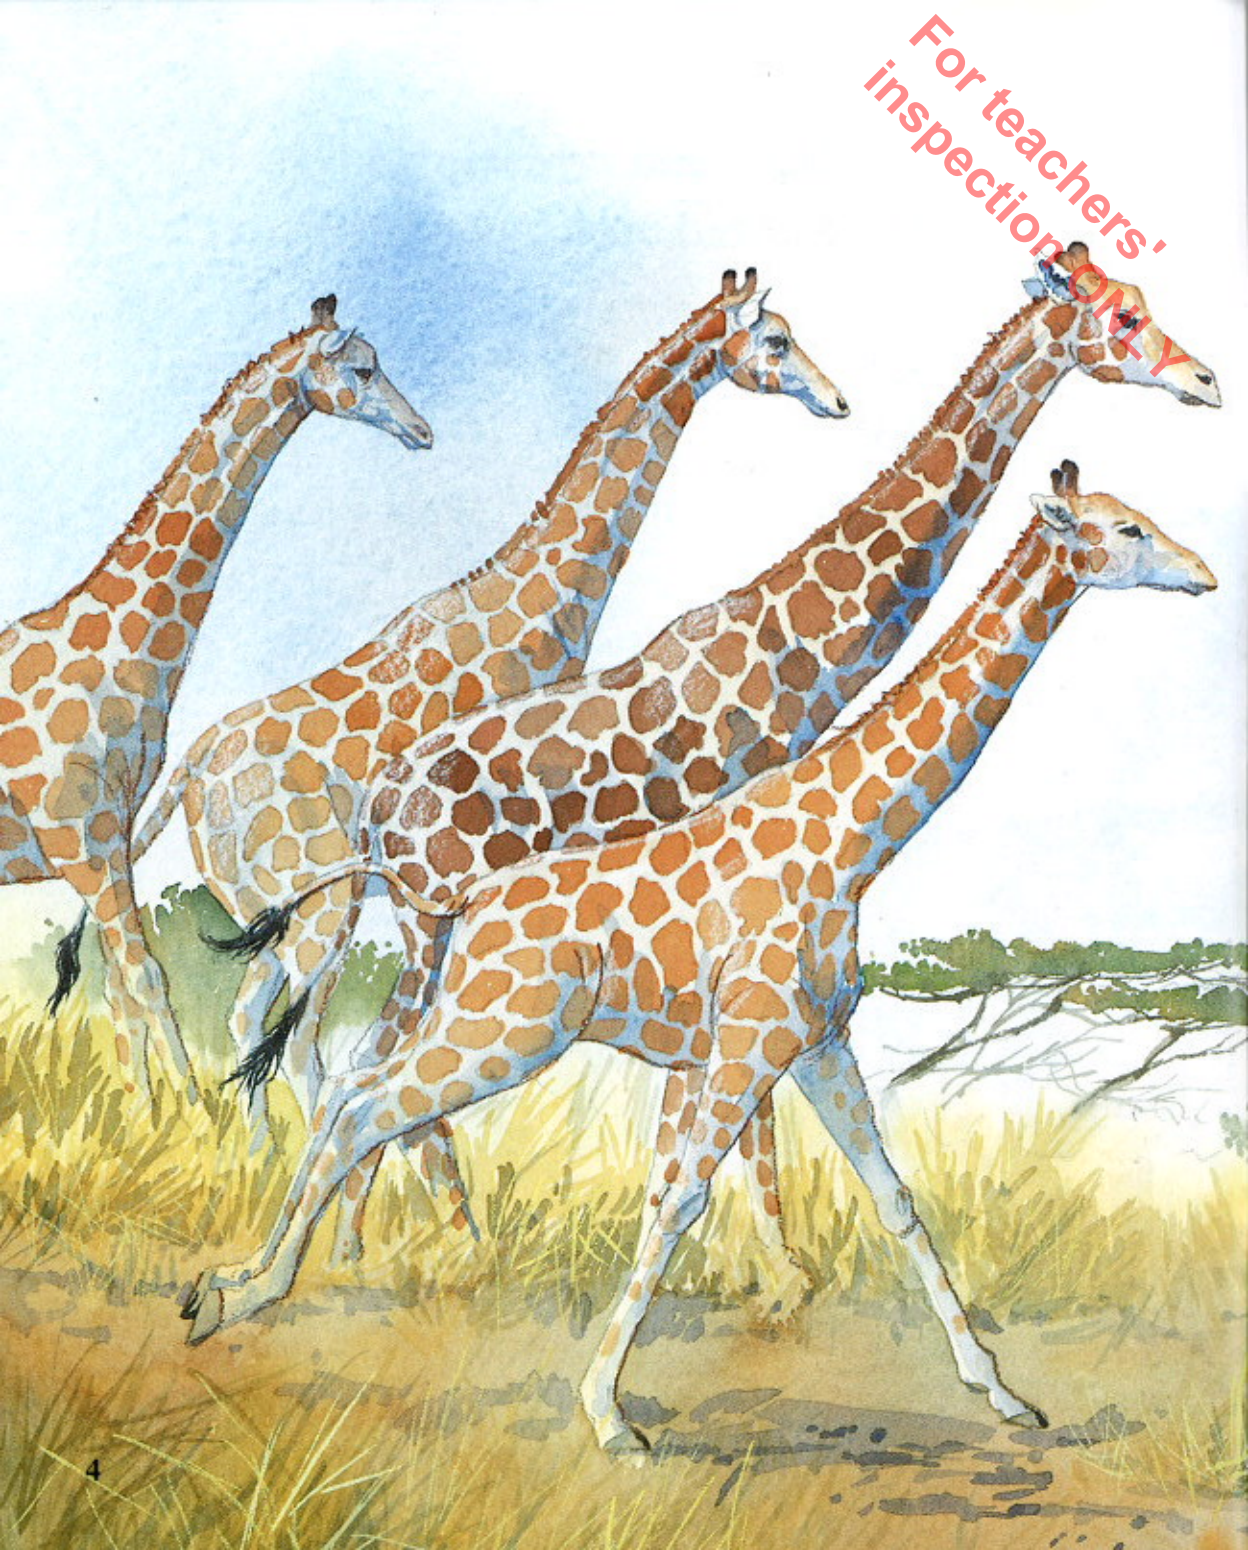

For teachers' inspection ONLY

He was hot and thirsty
and he wanted to have a drink.

He looked around for his mother.
He could see her
walking down to the waterhole.

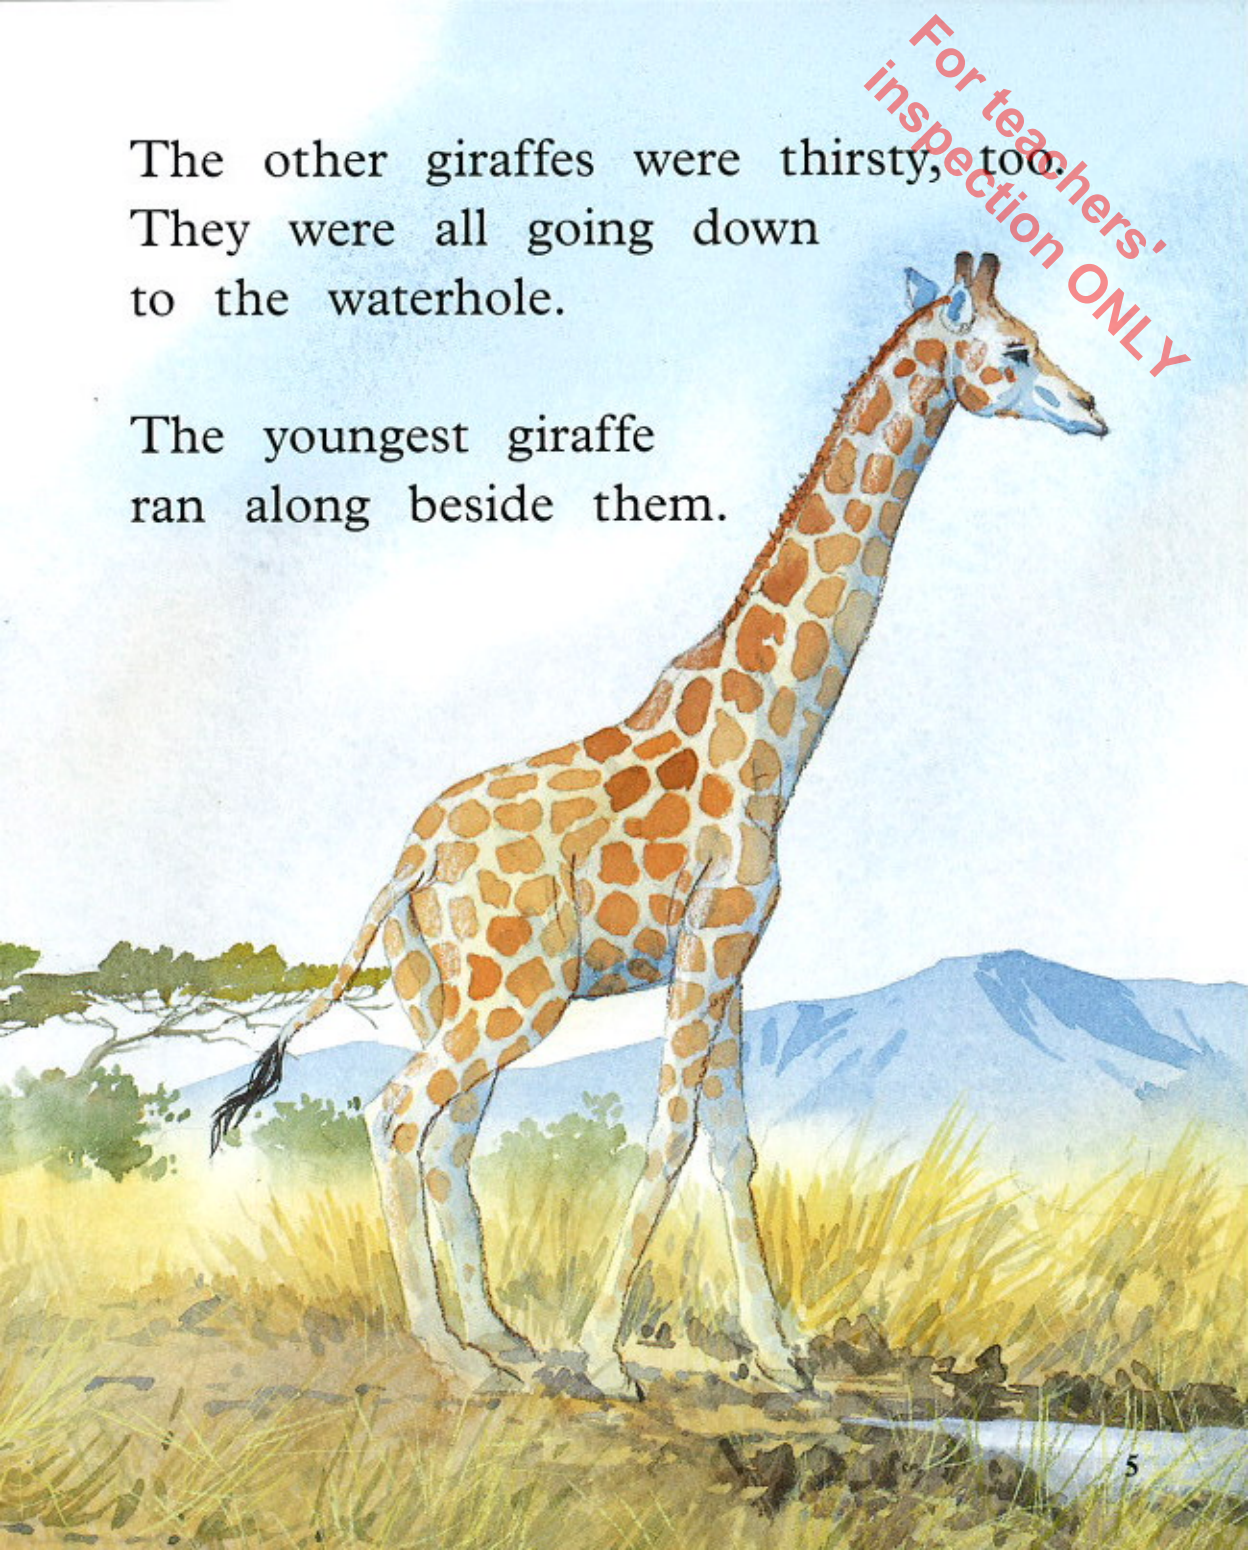

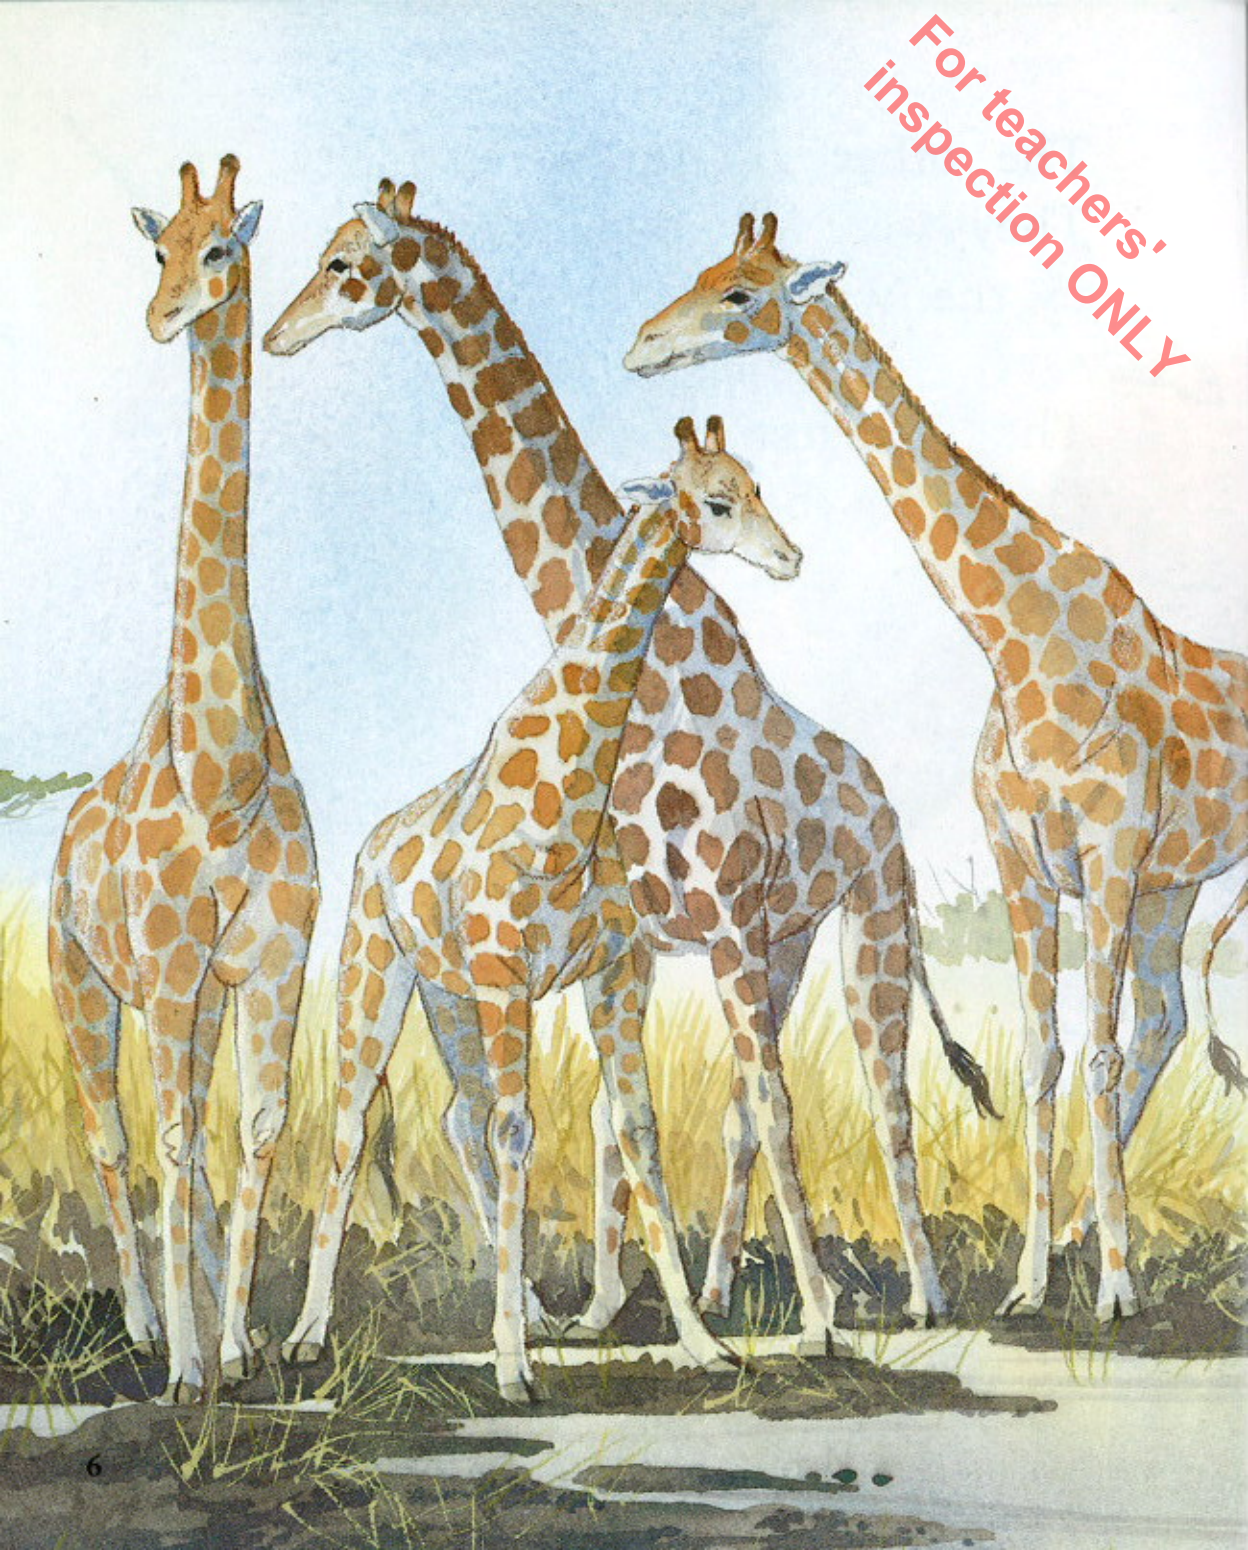

For teachers' inspection ONLY

The other giraffes were thirsty, too.
They were all going down
to the waterhole.

The youngest giraffe
ran along beside them.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY