"Rex needs a wash," said Mum.
She looked at his long coat
and dirty paws.

"But he's too big for his bathtub,"
said Jacob.
"And he runs away
as soon as we get it out."

"We could take him
to Pets' Corner in town," said Mum.
"They could give him a trim, as well.
His hair is too long.
He can't see where he's going."

Mum and Jacob took Rex to Pets' Corner.

"Come back for him this afternoon,"
said the man.

Jacob patted Rex.

The man took Rex away
and washed him.
Then he put him in a cage
which had a big blow-dryer.
