The Hut in the Old Tree

PM+

Story by Dawn McMillan

Illustrations by Meredith Thomas

In the school holidays, Tess and Nathan always stayed with their grandmother.
They loved making huts
at her place.

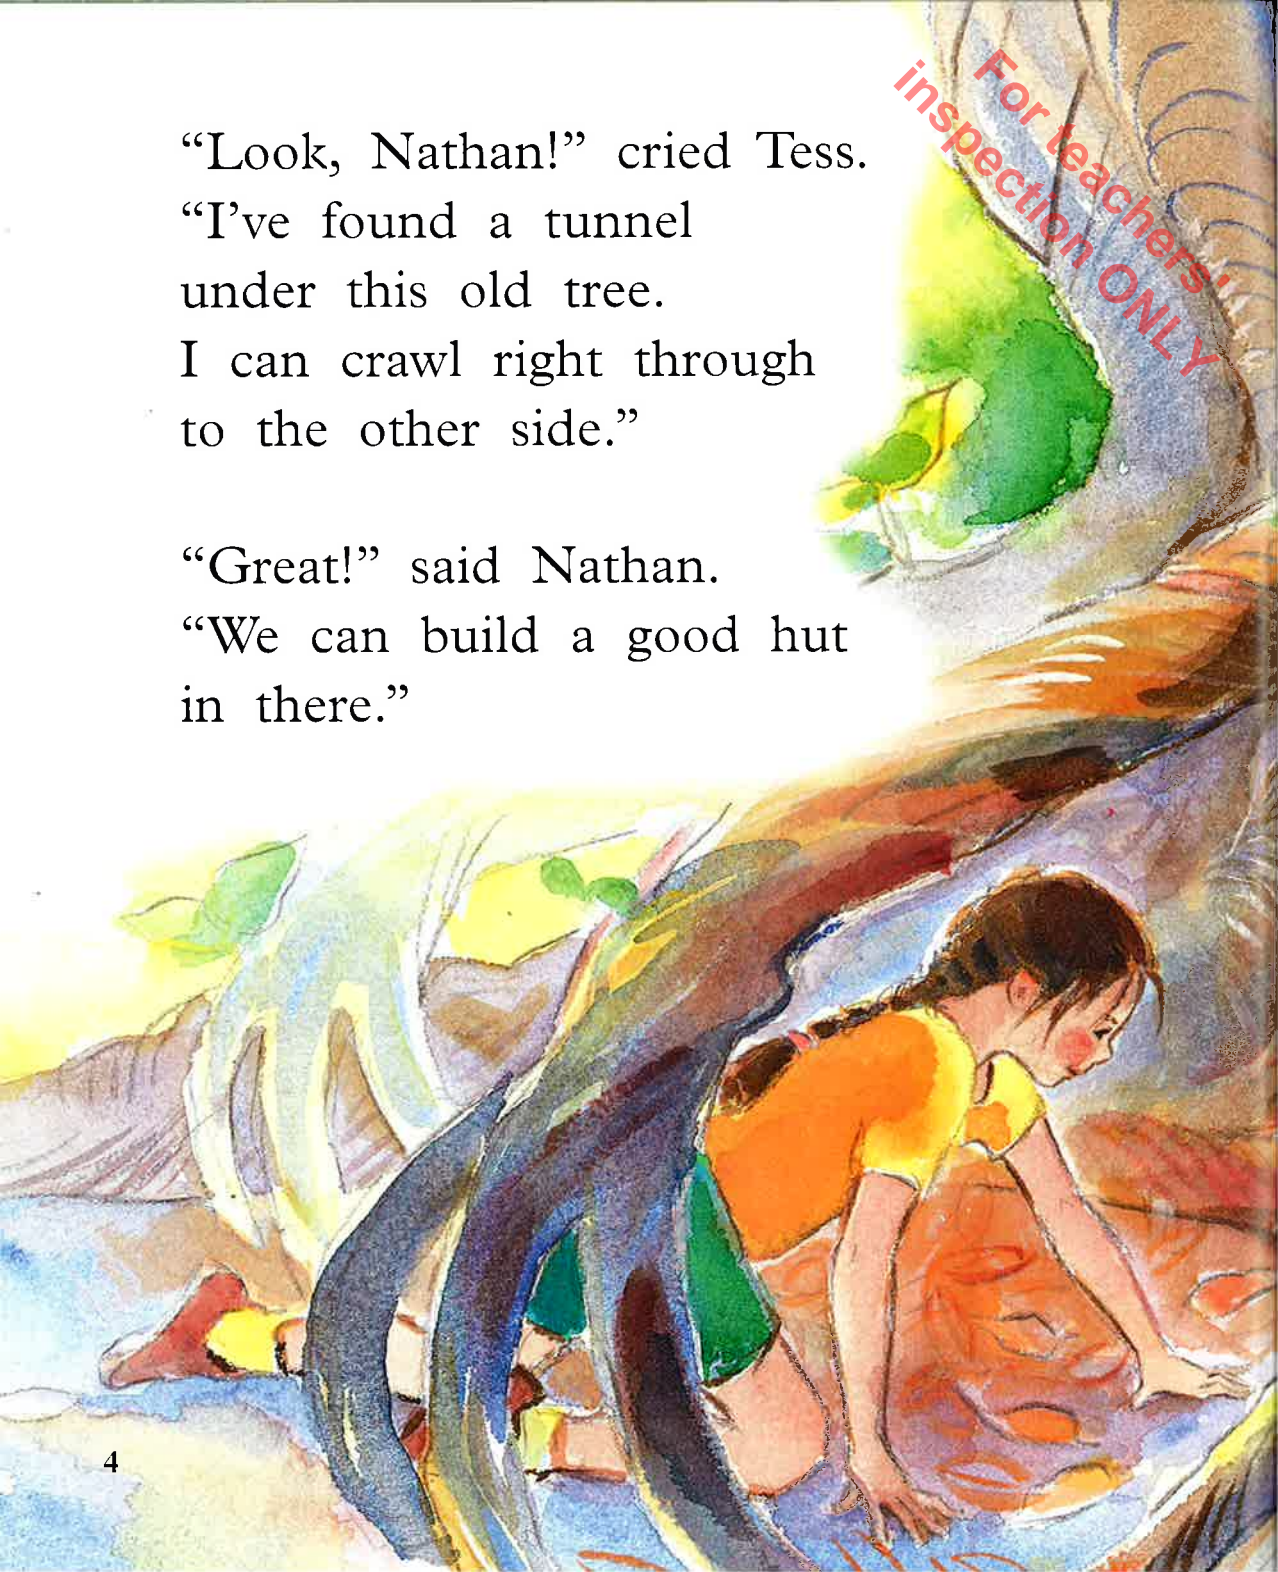

For teachers' inspection ONLY

They made huts in the empty shed.
They made huts in the garden.
And they made huts
in secret places under the trees.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

"Look, Nathan!" cried Tess.
"I've found a tunnel
under this old tree.
I can crawl right through to the other side."

"Great!" said Nathan.
"We can build a good hut in there."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

Nathan and Tess found sticks for the hut walls.
They put leaves on the hut floor.

Tess found a box in the shed.
"This box will be a great door," she said.

Tess and Nathan played in their hut
all afternoon.

"We'll play here again tomorrow," said Nathan,
as he pulled the door shut
behind him.

