The Smallest Horses

PM+

Story by Jenny Giles

Illustrations by Sharyn Madder

On Saturday, Clare's dad said,
"Let's go to the dog show today.
I would like to see the farm dogs."

"So would I," said Clare's mum.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

For teachers' inspection ONLY

But Clare had been to dog shows before,
and she didn't want to go.
She liked looking at horses, not dogs.
"Do I have to come?" she asked.
"Couldn't I go and play
at Abby's place?"

For teachers' inspection ONLY

But when Abby
heard about the dog show,
she wanted to go to it.

"Oh well," said Clare.
"If Abby comes, it will be more fun."

For teachers' inspection ONLY

When they got to the show, they watched the dogs walking round the show ring with their owners.

There were lots of dogs. The show went on and on for a long time.

For teachers' inspection ONLY

After a while,
Clare and Abby got tired of watching the dogs.

"Let's go for a walk," said Mum.

Dad said,
"I can meet you in the car park
in about half an hour."

