Goldilocks and the Three Bears

Retold by Jenny Giles
Illustrated by Pat Reynolds

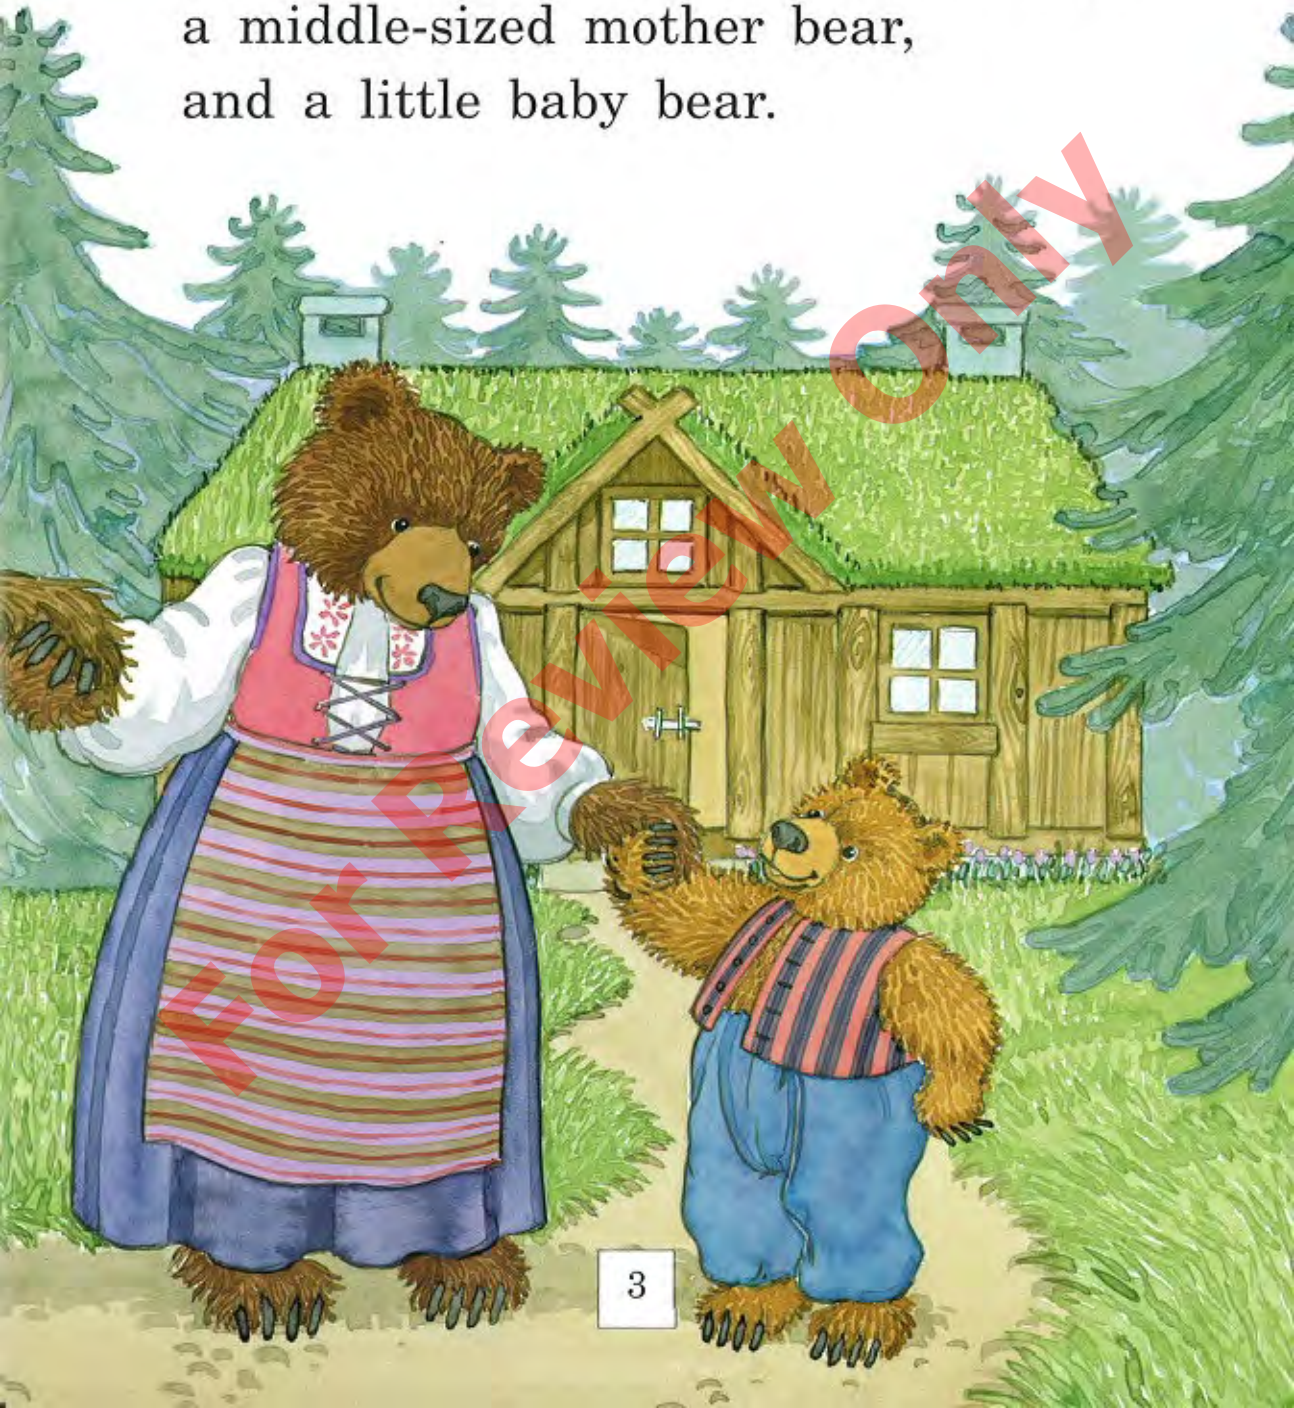

Once upon a time,
there were three bears.
They all lived together
in a house by a forest.

For Review Only

There was a great big father bear,
a middle-sized mother bear,
and a little baby bear.

For Review Only

Inside the house
there were three chairs.
There was a great big chair for Father Bear.
There was a middle-sized chair for Mother Bear, and there was a little chair for Baby Bear.

For Review Only

Upstairs there were three beds.
There was a great big bed
for Father Bear.
There was a middle-sized bed
for Mother Bear, and there was a little bed for Baby Bear.

FOR Review Only

A play

Goldilocks and the Three Bears

People in the play

Reader

Mother Bear

Goldilocks

Baby Bear

Father Bear

For Review Only

Reader

Once upon a time,
there were three bears.
They all lived together
in a house by a forest.
There was a great big father bear,
a middle-sized mother bear,
and a little baby bear.

Father Bear

I'm Father Bear, and I sit in this great big chair.

Mother Bear

I'm Mother Bear, and I sit in this middle-sized chair.

For Review Only

Baby Bear

I'm Baby Bear, and I sit in this little chair.

Reader

Upstairs there were three beds.

Father Bear

I sleep in the great big bed.

Mother Bear

I sleep in the middle-sized bed.

Baby Bear

And I sleep in the little bed.

For Review Only