Heron walked into the river and looked down.

"I like looking at myself in the water," he said to an old green frog. "I am very beautiful."

"Yes," said Heron.
"I am the best bird
in the river.
So I am going to eat
the best fish
in the river."

Heron saw some big fish with spots.

"I can't eat fish with spots!" he said. "They are not the best fish in the river."

And he let the fish swim away.
